Mark Duggan was executed

Corrupt officers in the Police used two police informants - Clint Ponton (C1 - @C1_empire) and Kevin Hutchinson Foster to organise the entrapment and execution of Mark Duggan.

Mark Duggan was fatally shot in the back by officer W42.

The blood spatter evidence corroborates the cab driver's testimony of Mark being shot in the back.

Evidence that police use paid informants to set community members up for firearm charges - some of whom are not involved in crime.

Why has this Newsletter been produced?

This Newsletter was written:

- For the pursuit of justice for many people in London and the United Kingdom who are victimised, raped, tortured and murdered by the state or state sponsored gangs or individuals.
- To highlight a disturbing fact, that the UK Government and Police work directly with the most serious gang leaders, Organised Criminal Networks, protects them from prosecution and employs them to set up and murder/rape/torture British citizens and oversee the drug trade.
- These Police Informants are also used in the community to disrupt community projects.
- These Police Informants are also used to create Government and Police projects under the disguise of community projects

Paid Police Informant Clint Ponton @C1_Empire

During the Mark Duggan inquest, the court was made aware of the existence of an anonymous letter which alleged U1 (pseudonym for Clint Ponton):

- was a paid police informant
- was working with a corrupt officer U3 (pseudonym) to organise the movements of firearms to set up individuals for arrest for various reasons
- began “setting up” members of his own gang in a bid to catch them with the so called “smoking gun”
- would arrange delivery or picking up of a firearm and supply DI U3 and his team with all the information so they would catch the perpetrators in the act
- contacted Mark Duggan asking him to get hold of a “strap” (street slang for gun)
- managed to convince Mark Duggan to get the firearm and deliver it to one of U1 Clint Ponton’s delivery boys

In response to these allegations - Detective Superintendent Paul Hudson made an application to the courts for Public Interest Immunity - PII

What is Public Interest Immunity (PII)?

Public Interest Immunity is a legal device that the Metropolitan Police use to protect paid police informants.

Especially to protect the identity of paid police informants from defendants in court.

What does that mean?

It means that in response to allegations that Clint Ponton:

- Was a paid police informant
- Had set Mark up to collect the firearm on the day he was executed
- Had set other members of his gang up for arrest
- Was working with corrupt police officers

The Metropolitan Police made an application to the courts for a legal device (PII) that is used to protect the identity of

PAID POLICE INFORMANTS

As part of this application, a request was made to change any reference to Clint Ponton into the pseudonym "U1".

Public Interest Immunity Application

IN THE MATTER OF:

THE INQUEST INTO THE DEATH OF MARK DUGGAN

APPLICATION FOR PUBLIC INTEREST IMMUNITY ON BEHALF OF THE METROPOLITAN POLICE SERVICE

I. INTRODUCTION

1. I am Detective Superintendent Paul Hudson. I am head of the Intelligence Unit within the Department of Professional Standards in the Metropolitan Police Service. I make this application for Public Interest Immunity [PII] on behalf of the Metropolitan Police Service.
2. On 26th September 2012, an anonymous letter was sent to the office of the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis. The author of the letter claims that he has been provided with intelligence via a leaked flash drive by a serving Metropolitan Police officer attached to Operation Trident (referred to in these inquest proceedings as U3). The letter makes a series of assertions, including the assertion that U3 had a corrupt relationship with a police source registered with the Metropolitan Police Service (U1), and that together U1 and U3 set up criminal associates, including Mark Duggan, to receive a firearm and to be subject to a targeted stop.
3. An investigation was carried out by the MPS into authorship of and assertions contained within this letter. Detective Inspector Katie Lilburn carried out that investigation.
4. The Coroner proposes to call DI Lilburn to give evidence at the inquest.
5. DI Lilburn has produced a witness statement, dated 13th September 2013, describing the ambit and fruits of her investigation. I invite the Coroner to replace names with pseudonyms as appropriate (and in particular U1 and U3) and to disclose that witness statement, together with this application, to all Interested Persons.
6. I have formed the view that a claim for public interest immunity [PII] should be made in respect of certain limited aspects of the investigation. To that end, a sensitive schedule [‘the PII Schedule’] has been produced and provided to the Coroner only, which sets out in full those aspects of the investigation, and the reasons why PII is sought. Those reasons cannot be provided in full in this application.

How do we know that U1 is actually Clint Ponton?

On the Mark Duggan Inquest site Document CD006091 is found which states that the “head of the TMD U1” was stabbed on the 15th November 2008 by Hackney Boys.

Op Dibri

On 15th November 2008, the head of TMD ^{U1} & ^{U20} were stabbed at [REDACTED] by Hackney Boys.

Due to the volume of intelligence suggesting that retaliation would take place and the increasing tensions, NW Proactive Team instigated Op Dibri, which was authorised on 18th January 2009.

U1 Clint Ponton Stabbed at Urban Music Awards 15th November 2008

This is the moment a suspected knifeman runs from the Urban Music Awards ceremony after stabbing Clint Ponton.

The man is seen running past a doorman at the O2 centre at Greenwich apparently clutching a weapon in his right hand.

The victim, Clint Ponton, 27, was stabbed in the neck in what police suspect was a gang-related fight at the venue in November last year (15th November 2008).

Jason Barrett set up on firearm charges by corrupt police working with Clint Ponton

What is particularly disturbing in this case is that Jason Barrett is not a career criminal and was not known to police.

Jason Barrett was convicted of possession of a firearm with Kayhan Kiani and jailed for a total of 13 years. Throughout his trial and imprisonment, he has maintained that U1 – Clint Ponton was a paid police informant and that he was the victim of police corruption (Document CD032558)

At the time Jason Barrett and Clint Ponton were negotiating the settlement of a financial dispute between two parties which would have resulted in a considerable commission fee for both men.

Jason Barrett's Letter to Judge Topolski (document CD032558)

"Your Honour, as you may or may not be aware I have deep and serious concerns about the behaviour of the police and the operation in which I was arrested and I am of the strongest opinion and belief that I have been the victim of police corruption on the highest level."

"On or around the 18th June 2012 Clint Ponton left a firearm under the front passenger seat of my car without my knowledge, he called me later that evening to tell me he had done that because "he thought he was being followed". After a heated discussion between us he said that he would send someone to come and collect it..."

"On the morning of June 21st 2012 Clint called me to let me know that he was sending "U12" to collect the firearm later that day, we arranged that "U12" would meet me in New Cross but was running late so it was changed to my office in Dartford Kent."

Judge Topolski

The police “operation” to recover the firearm and the phone call

“He arrived around roughly 3-3:30pm and I brought the firearm down to his car and I returned upstairs to my office. Approx 3 mins later I heard what I now know to be a gunshot and when I looked out the window I saw roughly 15 police officers some with machine guns.”

“Listen, this is what, these are the things that happened”.
Clint Ponton actually phoned me before they got arrested.
Have you got a crystal ball? Give me the lottery numbers because it’s amazing, you know we’re downstairs having a conversation, phone rings... but because we’re all talking they’re ignoring the call.

It’s Clint Ponton calling them. My phone rings as I’m walking away, I say ‘oh yeah later, its Clint, let me answer’, da, da, da. ‘Yeah, what’s happening? Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Clint: “I think they’ve both been nicked, I think they’ve been nicked’.”

Clint: ““Oh, oh,”

and then hangs up the phone. By the time I walk upstairs I hear a gun shot, I look out my window and I see them getting smacked in by the police and they’re being arrested.” (Document CD032610 – CD032610)

Clint Ponton, the Anonymous letter, the set up and execution of Mark Duggan

During the Mark Duggan Inquest an Anonymous Letter was sent to various people containing intelligence allegedly originating from an undercover officer in Trident.

U1 contacted Duggan asking him to get hold of a "strap" (street slang for a gun) Duggan was having difficulty acquiring the firearm but U1 continued to pressure Duggan to get the firearm for him. Duggan was told by U1 it was to be used in a revenge killing of their East London gang rivals one of which had stabbed U1 [REDACTED] nearly killing him.

U1 managed to convince Duggan to get the firearm and to deliver it to one of U1 's delivery boys, who in turn would get it to U1 . U1 arranged the time and place where Duggan was to meet his delivery boy he even suggested to Duggan to "take a cab". U1 then informed his handlers at TRIDENT where Duggan would be, the route he would take and the fact that he would be in a mini cab. Duggan informed U1 when he was on route. Little did Duggan know that he was being set up by U1 and TRIDENT and was being driven towards his death.

A full copy of the Anonymous letter can be found at www.starfamily.com

Intelligence Trident used on the day Mark Duggan was executed:

Unknown 1 wants the Beretta and Glock. Will be delivered Wednesday. MD and Male 1 and Unknown 2 will have to go to collect. Will go in cab.

Unknown 3 holding one of MD guns.

Kevin Hutchinson Foster - Police Informant

https://www.vice.com/en_uk/article/4wbgam/duggan-ipcc-unanswered-questions-173

“There is a final coda here. Last weekend the Mail on Sunday suggested that Kevin Hutchinson-Foster could have been a protected police informant.

It took police nine weeks to arrest him for allegedly supplying a gun to Duggan, and he had previously seen gun charges mysteriously dropped, in a case for which the Crown Prosecution Service claims to have lost the paperwork.

This is significant because of the critical light it throws on the operation to follow and arrest Duggan. If Hutchinson-Foster had some kind of close, ongoing relationship with police, why did his handlers seemingly allow him to distribute guns?

The Met often say following successful arrests that they have "taken a dangerous firearm off the streets". Keeping such weapons off the streets of London is a good aim, but less coherent as a policy if those dangerous firearms are put onto those same streets by protected police informants”

What does this mean?

In context, the police carried out an operation to target the TMD (Tottenham Man Dem) for arrest. This operation led to the execution of Mark Duggan.

However the person who organised the collection of the gun and the person who supplied the gun were not arrested on the day of the operation.

Clint Ponton, who had been identified as the leader of the TMD was never arrested up until this day. Even though Trident had this intelligence on the day of the operation.

Kevin Hutchinson Foster who supplied the firearm and is also included in the intelligence of the operation as the supplier, was not arrested for 9 weeks after Mark was executed. I suspect his arrest was due to mounting pressure the police were under from causing the UK riots.

It points to the disturbing fact that the police used two police informants to set up the execution of Mark Duggan

Taxi Driver Drawing of the Police Execution of Mark Duggan and position of Officer W42

Blood spatter evidence and the Taxi

The Execution of Mark Duggan - Set up by Police Informants - Shot in the back by Police

Mark Duggan The Cab and Forward Blood Spatter

This illustrates how a shot fired by Officer W42, entered Mark Duggan's back and subsequently caused the forward blood spatter evidence found on the cab as it exited Mark Duggan's left side of his body. You will notice the concentration of blood to the left of the cab, with blood further to the right more dispersed.

It is clear that the blood spatter pattern is forward spatter from an exit wound to the left side of Mark's body and not back spatter from an entry wound to the right side of his body especially considering Mark's distance from the cab. As such the shots fired by Officer V53 to the right side of Mark Duggan's body could not have caused these patterns. The back spatter caused by the bullets entering Mark's right side of his body would be limited and low velocity and considering the distance between his right side and the rear side of the cab it would not be possible for these wounds to have caused these patterns. Therefore the evidence suggests Mark was shot in the back by Officer W42.
